BOARD OF MILITARY CLAIMS.—The Board of Commissioners for the adjustment of military claims, organized under an act passed at the last session of the Legislature. will hold sessions in this city on the second Tuesday of each month, and at such other times as may be necessary for the disposal of the business before them.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Yesterday forenoon a fire from sparks from the chimney caught in the roof of the blacksmith's shop attached to the carriage manufactory of E. & H. FrBooth on East Gay street. An alarm was runge and the fire engines turned out; but the fire was fortunately extinguished with-out their aid. Its early and prompt extingulshment was a most fortunate circumstance, as a stiff breeze was blowing at the POLICE COURT.-The following business was transacted in the Mayor's Court yesterday morning: " mainte

P. Fristoe, for drunkenness on the streets for forestalling in market, was fined $1 and costs; but upon payment of costs, the fine was remitted and the defendant dis-

Adam Hunter and E. Stephens got into a spree on Tuesday night, and becoming disorderly and riotous, overturned a photographic show-case on High street, breaking it and its contents in pieces, to the damage of the proprietor of $15 or $20. Mayor Bull fined them each $10 and costs, and sent them to the city prison for 48 hours.

THE GREAT SHOW ON MONDAY .- The Monster Equescurriculum, probably the greatest show in the world, in modern times, is coming to this city, and will be open to the public on Monday next at 2 and 7 P. M., and for that day and evening only. It is a novel and unprecedented combination, comprising three distinct exhibitions, and uniting three great circuses in one-The combined circus has 250 men and horses, and embraces the most distinguishd equestrian performers in America or Europe. Then, beside the grand united circus, there are tour exhibitions of trained animals-bears, buffaloes, the sacred bull of Hindostan, and dogs, monkeys and ponies. Surely no one can easily forego the pleasure and information to be derived from seeing all the surprising novelties combined in this single exhibition.

Personal.-Major General Hooker passed through here yesterday, en route for Cleveland, whither he has gone to take charge of the remains of the late President, agreeably to instructions from the War Department. Besides one of his personal aids-Capt. Taylor-the General was ompanied by Col. Swords, Asst. Q. M. Gen. Lieut. Col. Simpson, of U. S. Engineers; Lieut. Col. Lathrop, Asst. Inspector Gen.; Major Bannister, Chief Paymaster, and Major McFeely, Commissary U. S. A. INSURANCE AGAINST ACCIDENTS .- We refer our readers, and especially those who, from the nature of their employments, are particularly exposed to injury from accidents, to which all persons are, indeed, more or less exposed, to the advertisement of the Accident Insurance Company of this city. By examining this advertisement the reader will see at a glance the importauce and safety of insuring in this company, and the low rate by which a handome sum may be secured in cases of accidental disability or loss of life. This subject is one which should not be overlooked, or attention to it delayed for a single day, and commends itself in particular to those who have families dependent on their personal safety and daily exertions for support.

This new Insurance Company cannot but become a popular institution. It has already issued policies to the amount of $150 .-000. Among the policies issued to wellknown citizens, is one of $10,000 to B. E. Smith; $4,000 to W. G. Deshler; $5,000 to Geo. C. Benham; $5,000 to Theodore Comstock; $5,000 to C. N. cured by the use of Dr. D. H. Seelye's Liquid The Pursuit and Capture of Booth and Harrold.

Washington, April 27 .- Yesterday morning a squadron of the 16th New York cavalry traced Booth and Harrold to a barn between Bowling Green and Port Royal near Fredericksburg, Va. The barn was surrounded and a demand made for their surrender, which Harrold was in favor of doing, but upon Booth's calling him a cowscathed uproots the flower." If your wife is ailing, ard, he refused to do so. The barn was then set on fire, and upon its getting too care wear upon her, remember you are the Heaven- hot Harrold again presented himself and appointed guardian of her health. You should not put his hands through the door to be handfail to supply her with delicacies which will assist | cuffed. While this was going on Booth nred up on the soldiers, upon which a ser geant fired at him. The ball of the sergeant took effect in the head of Booth, killing him. Harrold was taken alive and he and him. Booth's body were brought to the Washington Navy Yard last night. Booth was discovered in the barn by the cavalry. He declared his intention never to surrender and said he would fight the whole squad consisting of twenty-eight men, if they would permit him to place himself twenty vards distant.

The scouting party was under command of Lieut. Edward Dougherty. Booth was on a crutch and was lame. He lived two hours after he was shot, whispering blashemies against the Government and sendng a farewell message to his mother. At the time he was shot it was said he was leaning on his crutch and preparing to fire again upon his captors.

The Star has the following particulars of the capture of Booth: To Lieut. Col. L. B. Baker, special detective of the War Department, and his admirably trained detective force, and to the 16th N.Y. cavalry, active participators in the capture of the crim-inals, the country owes a debt of gratitude for this timely service. It seems that a de-tachment of the 16th New York cavalry, numbering about twenty-five men, was despatched from this city on Monday under the direction of Col. Baker, in command of Lieutenant Dougherty, accompanied by some of Col. Baker's officers, who captured and killed Booth, and captured Harrold, one of his accomplices, alive. The cavalry, after leaving here, landed at Belleplaine the night, and at once started out in pursuit of Booth and Harrold, havng previously ascertained from a colored man that they had crossed the river into Virginia at Swan Point, in a small canoe hired by Booth from a man for $300. Pro ceeding on toward Bowling Green, some three miles from Port Royal, Lieut. Dougherty, who was in command of the company, discovered that Booth and Harrold were secreted in a large barn owned by a man named Garrett, and were well armed. The cavalry then surrounded the barn and summoned Booth and Harold to surrender. Harrold was inclined at first to accede to the request, but Booth accused him of cowardics. Then they peremptorily refused to surrender, and made preparations to defend themselves. In order to take the conspira-tors alive, the barn was fired, and the fames getting too hot for Harrold he ap-proached the door of the barn and signified his willingness to be taken prisoner. The door was then opened sufficiently to allow Harrold to put his arms through, that he might be handcuffed. As an officer was about placing the irons upon Harrold's wrists, Booth fired upon the party from the barn, which was returned by the sergeant of the 16th New York, the ball striking Booth in the neck, from the effect of which he died in about four hours. Before breathing his last he was asked if he had anything to say, when he replied, "Tell my mother that I died for my country. Harrold and the body of Booth were brought into Belleplaine at 8 o'clock last night, and reached the navy yard here at 1 o'clock this mornformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to ing.

The statement heretofore published that

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers barn. Booth was shot about 4 o'clock in the morning, and died about 7 o'clock. Booth had upon his person some bills of exchange, but only $175 in treasury netes, It appears that Booth and Harrold left Washington together on the night of the Washington together on the night of the murder of President Lincoln, and passed through Leonardtown, Maryland, conceal-on the right bank of the Rappahannock SECOND DISPATCH.

The Star in a later edition, has the to owing of Booth Booth and Harrold reached Garrett's some days ago, Booth walking on crutches. A party of four or five accompanied them, who spoke of Booth as a wounded Marylander on his way home, and that they wished to leave him there a short time, and would take him away by the 26th, yester-day. Booth limped somewhat and walked on crutches about the place, complaining of his ankle. He and Harrold regularly took their meals at the house, and both kept appearances well. One day at the dinner table the conversation turned on the assas-sination of the President, when Booth denounced the assassination in the severest terms, saying that there was no punishment severe enough for the perpetrator. At another time some one said in Booth's presence that rewards amounting to $200,000 had been offered for Booth, and that he would like to catch him, when Booth replied, "Yes, it would be a good haul, but the amount would doubtless soon be increased to $500,000."

The two Garretts, who, lived on the place, allege that they had no idea that these parties (Booth and Harrold) were any othe than what their friends represented them-paroled Confederate soldiers, on their way home. They also say that when the caval ry appeared in that neighborhood, and they heard that they were looking for the asthese two men were on the place. In other words, they assert that they are entirely innocent of giving the assassins aid and comfort, knowing them to be such.

The Ida tug boat reached here about 2 o'clock lastnight with Harrold and the two men above referred to, as well as the body of Booth. Harrold was immediately put in a safe place. He thus far, it is stated, has manifested no disposition to speak of the affair, but as he was known as a very talkative young man he may soon recover the use of his tongue. Booth and Harrold were dressed in Confederate new gray uniforms. Harrold was otherwise not disguised much. Booth's moustache had been cut off, apparently with scissors, and his beard allowed to grow, changing his appearance considerably. His hair had been cut somewhat shorter than he usually wore it. Booth's body, which we have above de-seribed, was at once laid out on a bench and a guard placed over it. The lips of the corpse are tightly compressed and the blood is settled in the lower part of the face Otherwise the face is pale and wears a wild haggard look, indicating exposure to the elements and a rough experience in his skulking flight. His hair is disarranged and dirty, and apparently had not been combed since he took his flight. The head and breast are alone exposed to view, the lower portion of the body, in-cluding the hands and feet, being covered tarpaulin. The shot which termiwith a nated his accursed life entered on the left side at the back of the neck, a point, curiously enough, not far distant from that in which his victim, our lamented President was shot.

No orders have yet been given as to what disposition will be made of the body .-Large numbers of persons have been seek ing admission to the Navy Yard to-day to get a sight of the body, and to hear the particulars, but none excepting the workmen, the officers of the yard and those holding orders from the Department, are allowed to enter. A Spencer carbine, which Booth had with him in the barn at the time he was shot by Sergt. Corbett, and a large knife, with blood on it, supposed to be the one with which Booth cut Major Rathbun in the theatre box on the night af the murder of President Lincoln, and which was found on Booth's body, have been brought to the city. The carbine and knife are now in possession of Col. Baker, at his office. bills of exchange, which were for a considerable amount, found on Booth's per-son, were drawn on banks in Canada in Oc-

President Johnson's Rody-Guard NEW YORK. April 27 .- The Times' Washington special says: The statement that President Johnson declines all precautions for his personal safety is erroneous. True, he has not given any special directions for guards to be placed about his person, but he approves the precautions taken by the authorities, which embrace the continuance upon duty of the late President's bodyguard, commanded by Lieutenant J. B Jamison, of Ohio. This company consists of one select man from each county in Ohio, and numbers nearly one hundred men. A sufficient force of this guard is upon duty at all times, and the visitor who calls upon the President at his temporary mansion is confronted at once upon ap-proaching the door by three or four solders, who do not permit him to advance further until his name has been sent in and the order given by the President to admit him. A Commission from Gov. Vance Visits Gen. Sherman. NEW YORK, April 27 .- The World's Raleigh correspondent says a commission, consisting of ex-Governor Graham, ex-Governor Swayne, Surgeon General Warren and Col. Burr, were sent by Governor Vance to see what arrangement could be made with Sherman on the part of the State for a cessation of hostilities, and to ascertain what was the status of the State Government and its officers under the new regime The commission had the assent of General lardee to visit Sherman, Johnston not being at hand. But Wade Hampton intercepted them and sent them back. Kilpat-rick, being in the rear, captured them, and, Hampton having retreated, again sent them on their mission. They had an interview with Sherman, who gave them a protecting paper for the Governor and State officers so long as no hostilities were shown by them. Sherman told them he had no information as to how the status of the State Government was affected, province; that he did not consider North Carolina out of the Union, as the question of secession had not been submitted to the people; that he would respect any man that was not an original secessionist, and treat him with every consideration. Still he Johnston, and the people must necessarily suffer by that march. Johnston's army was nferior to his, and every man slain in the future was an unnecessary sacrifice. John-ston, and not himself, would be responsible or this sacrifice and the suffering entailed on the people of North Carolina. The civ-flized world would pronounce Johnston's course inhuman and illegitimate.

The Interview Between Sherman

New York, April 27.—The Herald's Ra-leigh correspondent of the 19th says; John-ston first proposed to surrender his army ston first proposed to surrender his army on the terms granted Lee, and requested Sherman to send the proposition to Washington. Sherman replied that he was emplowered to act and it was unnecessary to send to Washington, thus causing delay. An interview was had next day, when Johnston made inquiry what terms would be yielded to members of the Confederate Government. Sherman refused to recognize the authorities of any such Government. Government. Sherman refused to recognize the authorities of any such Government, but was prepared to treat with Johnston as an officer of the insurgent forces. A second meeting was had, at which Breckinridge, recognized as a Major General and not as rebel Secretary of War, was present. Mob Violence in the City of Brotherly Love. Philadelphia, April 27.—About 90'clock this morning Mr. Edward Ingersoll, who delivered a strong secession speech a few days since in New York, was waited upon by a committee of citizens on alighting from the railroad train at Ninth and Green streets, and was requested to apologize for the speech. This Mr. Ingersoll refused to do, and drew a revolver from his pocket, but was unable to fire it before he was knocked down and very badly cut and beaten by the crowd. He was arrested and held to bail in the sum of $2,000, on the charge of assault and battery and carrying oncealed and deadly weapons. A committee of citizens waited upon the Mayor to have the bail increased to $10,000.

Mr. Ingersoll is regarded as one of the chiefs of the disloyal party in this city, and his arrest has caused considerable excitement. A large crowd has collected around Spring Garden, where he is confined, and threats are freely made to lynch him.— Mr. Ingersoll's friends are endeavoring to take out a writ of habeas corpus, but so far have not succeeded in finding the Alderman by whom he was committed.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Philadelphia, April 27.—This afternoon Charles Ingersoll, the brother of Edward Ingersoll, and a notorious sympathiser with the rebellion, went to Spring Garden Hall for the purpose of going bail for his brother. On descending from his carriage he was set upon by the populace and very badly beaten. He took refuge in the Hall and was subsequently conveyed to his home. Several prominent secessionists pre-pared to visit the Hall this afternoon to consult with Mr. Ingersoll, but they were warned not to do so, and desisted. The ex-citement runs high, and in the present state of the public mind the lives of all sympathisers with the rebellion can hardly be said to

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The Bulletin furnishes the following particulars of the Ingersoll difficulty, which has produced a considerable sensation in this city. When the train reached Ninth and Green streets a party of men got around the front door of the car for the purpose of giving Mr. Ingersoll a parting salute. The obnoxious individual, however, passed out the back door and got upon Wallace street.—The crowd followed him. At Eighth street Mr. Ingersoll turned about and faced the party. Capt. J. H. Wirthington, jr., of the 19th regiment Pennsylvania volunteer, then stepped forward and said, "Ingersoll I am a soldier, I have risked my life for my country, I think you owe an apology to the country for your speech, and particularly to the soldiers." Ingersoll merely replied, "Go to hell." The Captain then raised his cane to strike Mr. Ingersoll, but the blowwas warded off by Mr. Ingersoil with his cane. The two then crossed canes for a few seconds. Mr. Ingersoll received a cut on the left side of his face, and broke his cane apon the arm of Captain Withington. Mr. ngersoll then drew back about ten paces, took from his pocket a revolver and cocked it. Some of the crowd scattered at this war-like movement of Ingersoll, when he was immediately seized by a police officer. It was as much as the officer could do to keep the people from laying violent hands upon his person.

The prisoner was finally landed at the police station, followed by an excited crowd which augmented at every square. Alderman Massey was sent for, and Mr. Ingersoll was given a hearing at the station house. Capt. Withington gave his testi mony, which was to the same effect as given above. Officer Jones testified that he arrested the man with a revolver in his hand, and it was cocked. Here In-Officer Jones testified that gersoll remarked defiantly and offensively, "Yes, and you all ran like a pack of sheep when I drew it," "You are a liar," said one, and the crowd made another rush for Ingersoll, the police with great difficulty succeeding in keeping them back. Capt. Withington remarked, "I've been on the battle field, where bullets flew thick and fast, and I've seen too many of them to be scared by a revolver.

Alderman Massey held Mr. Ingersoll in $2.000 bonds. Ingersoll appealed to several persons to go bail for him, but all refused.

The Funeral Train.

AT ROCHESTER. ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 27 .- The funeral train arrived here at 3:20 A.M. Minute guns were fired and Newman's regimental band performed funeral dirges. The 54th New York, first company Veteran Reserves. hospital soldiers, the battery attached to the 25th brigade and the Union Blues (independent), were drawn up in line in the depot on the north side of the track. The bells of the city churches are being tolled, and as the train leaves the city the multitude show marked signs of sorrow and respect. Thus far there has been no accident. 10,000 people are present.

AT BATAVIA.

BATAVIA. N. Y., April 27.—The remains of Abraham Lincoln arrived at Batavia at 5:18. Two thousand of the inhabitants assembled at this place. During the time we remained here a choir of male and female voices sung a requiem, bells were tolled and minute guns fired.

AT BUFFALO. BUFFALO, April 27, 7 A. M .- We are now at Buffalo. Not the slightest accident has happened on the way from Washington, owing to the admirable arrangements and the faithfulness and experience of officers in charge of the train. The train was met at the depot by a large concourse of people, the men with uncovered heads. The pro-cession was formed between 7 and 8 o'clock and proceeded toward St. James Hall. The coffin was prominently in view of the very many persons who lined the streets through which the cortege passed.

The hearse was heavily covered with black cloth, surmounted with an arched roof tastefully trimmend with white satin and silver lace. An extensive display of the military and civilians was omitted in view of the fact that Buffalo had a funeral procession the day the obsequess took place in Washington.

The procession reached the Young Men's Association building at 9:35 A. M. The body was taken from the funeral car and carried by soldiers up into St. James' Hall and deposited in the presence of the accompanying officers, the guards of honor, the Union Continentals, commended by N. X. Hall. The remains were placed under a crape canopy extending from the ceiling to the floor. The space was lit by a large chandelier. In the gallery outside the canopy was the Ruffalo St. Cecillia Society and opy was the Buffalo St. Cecillia Society, an amature American musical association, who, as the remains were brought in, sang with eep pathos the dirge, "Rest, Spirit, Rest!" affecting every heart and moving many to tears. The Secretary then placed an ele-gantly framed harp made of choice white flowers at the head of the coffin, as a tribute from them to the honored dead. Shortly after this the public were admitted. Gustavus A. Newell, of New Jersey, has been invited to accompany the remains to Springfield. Following are the names of Springfield. Following are the names of the army and navy officers of the funeral party: Brig. Gen. E. D. Townsend, Adjutant General representing the Secretary of War; Maj. Gen. L. D. Hunter, U. S. Vols.; Bear Admiral Davis, U. S. Navy; Brev. Maj. Gen. Barnard, U. S. Vols.; Brig. Gen. Bamsay, Ordnance Department; Brig. Gen. Eaton, Commissary General of Subsistence, Capt. Taylor, U. S. Navy; Brig. Gen. Howe, Chief of Artillery; Brig. Gen. Caldwell; Brig. Gen. McCallom, Superintendent of U. S. Military Railroads; Brig. Gen. Ekin. of authority of the embalmer and undertaker, that no perceptible change has taken place in the body of the late President since we left Washington. The physicians there removed part of the brain only for the autopsy; but this was replaced, so no part of the body is now decomposed.

The remains were visited through the day from half-past nine A. M. until this even-ing, by immense numbers of persons. The arrangements generally are pronounce be better than elsewhere on the route.

Stoneman's Raid-Operations Suspended by Order of Gen. Sher-

KNOXVILLE, TENN., April 27.—Since the last intelligence from Gen. Stoneman's command the following is a summary of what it has accomplished: One portion of the command, under Col. Palmer, moved down the Catawaba river, dispersing parties go-ing southwest from Johnston's army, capturing upwards of two thousand prisoners and two pieces of artillery; and amongst other things destroyed was the immense railroad bridge over the Catawaba river, eleven hundred and twenty-five feet long and sixty feet high. Then, learning that a general armistice had been entered into between Sherman and Johnston, Col. Palmer ceased operations. The other portion of the command, under Gen. Gillen, attacked and routed the rebel force under Maj. Gen. McCowan, at Morgantown, taking one piece of artillery, af-terwards forcing the passes through the Bine Ridge held by the rebel forces under Gen. Martin, taking six pieces of artillery, and would have captured or dispersed the whole force had not Gen. Gillen not been met by Gen. Martin with a flag of truce and bearing a letter from Gen. Sherman, countersigned by Gen. Johnston, and directed to Gen. Stoneman, ordering a general suspension of hostilities and withdrawal of the forces under Gen. Stoneman's command

From Richmond.

NEW YORK, April 27 .- Richmond papers of the 26th are received. Farmers in the region about Richmond are returning to their homes, from whence they were torn by Davis' conscription, and are preparing to resume the tillage of their farms. Some outrages and horse thefts are being committed by stragglers from both armies, but these irregularities are being formally put down by the United States military au-thorities.

The 1st and 2d divisions of the 24th army corps have arrived at Richmond from the Appamattox. The crops promise well in Several of the gunboats and iron-clads burned and blown up in James river by the rebel authorities are being raised, and much of their armament found in good condition. The Whig says, on the authority of a gentleman from Greensboro, that Davis started south from Greensboro on the 14th with a cavalry escort. Gov. Smith had re-turned to Danville. The Davis party spoke openly of their intention of making for the Trans-Mississippi, and confident they could get there without interruption. Whig does not agree with Trenholm, rebel Secretary of the Treasury, refused to sell any gold to citizens of Greensboro for Confederate notes, though they offered to pay any price. Billy Smith on the 12th made a peech exhorting the people to flock to the banner of Johnston, but not one man was influenced thereby.

New York, April 27 .- The Post says a private dispatch from an official source received yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, re-ported Booth had broke his leg, and that the surgeon who attended him was Dr. Mudd, of Charles county Md., who had been arrested. Thus a clue to Booth's whereis obtained.

Harrold is supposed to have been the ac-complice of the man who attacked Secretary Seward. He was formerly a clerk in a drug store in Washington. He is unmar-ried, and about 22 years of age. Later information states that Booth had his leg set by Dr. Mudd at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, the 16th. The Doctor jurnished Booth a pair of crutches. When the Doc-tor was arrested he had one of Booth's boots in his possession.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 27 .- Among the various arrivals from Richmond, Va., to-day, was that of the paroled rebel Gen. Pickett, who murdered in cold blood the 28 loyal North Carolinians. He was dressed in a full suit of rebel grey, and sauntering in and out of the fortress inspecting the guns and its various works, with as much nonchalance as it he had been a Union officer of distinction.

The steamer Richmond, Capt. Baker, arrived from Moorehend City, North Carolina, this afternoon at four o'clock, having left there at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, with important dispatches from General Grant. The General reached Morehead City on the evening of the 23d, about sundown, and started immediately for Sher-man's army at Raleigh and its immediate
